

Penn Emergency Medicine Global Health Case Competition

The Global Health Case Competition is a collaboration between the Department of Emergency Medicine at Penn Medicine and the Center for Global Health. This free virtual event invites medical trainees from low- and middle-income countries to present unique clinical cases relevant to their local emergency care context. Finalists will present their cases and hear from a keynote speaker working at the intersection of emergency medicine and global health.

Tuesday, July 8th | 8am EST

Why Participate?

Share your emergency case insights, gain international visibility, and connect with fellow global health and emergency medicine leaders. Learn, engage, and win cash prizes!

Cash Prizes

1st Place - $1000 USD
2nd Place - $500 USD
3rd Place - $250 USD
People's Choice - $250 USD

Abstracts Due: June 6th, 5pm EST

Contact:

pennglobalem@pennmedicine.upenn.edu

